72 Roads Failed to Earn Fixed Charges in 1931, Rail Head Avers

CITES 56 PER CENT DECREASE REVENUE IN ANSWER TO LABOR

RAIL HEADS ANSWER CHALLENGE OF LABOR TO BARE FINANCIAL CONDITION

Chicago, Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—Representatives of the nation's railroads laid their cards on the table today at their wage conference with railway labor leaders.

In what was regarded as the railroads' last word of the controversy, Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and chairman of the committee of nine railway presidents, read a 1200-word statement answering labor's demand for "more figures."

58% Revenue Decrease

Willard listed reduction in the last two years of 58 per cent in net operating income; 50 per cent in purchases of rolling stock and equipment; 33 per cent in total earnings; 48 per cent in total operating expenses and 27 per cent in payrolls.

The reduction in payrolls was relatively the smallest for the depression period between 1929 and 1931, Willard's statement said.

D. B. Robertson, chairman of the railway labor executives, had asked for a statement from the rail presidents setting forth "the bills you owe and the reductions you have made, without reference to investment and evaluation figures."

Answers Demand

Willard's statement, comprising data for all the roads, was a specific answer to that demand. It likely will be the basis for final arguments of both sides over the 10 per cent wage reduction the railroads asked their employes to accept.

"The business depression which began late in 1929 probably has been the longest and most severe in history," Willard's statement said. "It has caused an unprecedented dceline in railway freight and passenger business, as a result of which the gross earnings of the railways in 1931 were $2,100,000,000, or 33 per cent, less than in 1929.

"Total railway earnings in 1929 were $6,360,000,000; in 1930, $5,343,000,000, and in 1931, $4,259,000,000.

"Total earnings in November, 1931, the latest month for which statistics of earnings are available, were 39 per cent less than in November, 1929.

Threatened With Bankruptcy

"In spite of the enormous reduction that has been made in operating expenses, many of the carriers are threatened with bankruptcy because of inability to pay their fixed charges or to meet the principal of obligations coming due.

"There were 72 individual railway companies which failed by $90,000,000 to earn their fixed charges in 1931 and unless present net earnings can be increased, the number that will not earn their fixed charges in 1932 will be much larger."

MENNONITE CHURCH WORKER FATALLY STABBED; POLICE LABEL IT "HEX MURDER"

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—A weird symbol of voodooism carved in blood on the brow of a murdered Mennonite church worker may change a fatal stabbing case into a crime of mysticism, another Pennsylvania "hex murder."

Evidence of the "hexeria," a strange belief in signs to ward off evil, was discovered about 12 hours after Norman R. Bechtel, 31, was found dying in a roadway, his heart encircled by stab wounds.

Two small crescents were cut into the flesh of the victim on each side of the forehead. A horizontal split about an inch long was under each crescent. Then in the center of the forehead, extending in a vertical line from the hair line to the bridge of the nose, was another cut. Extending from this one diagonally up and across the forehead toward the crescents were two more straight cuts. Each incision was just deep enough to cause a blood flow.

Bechtel was stabbed with a long, thin-bladed knife as he sat at the wheel of his motor car with the slayer at his side. He evidently regarded the killer as his friends, police believe. The first stroke of the knife was delivered with such force that it ripped through the victim's overcoat, his coat and penetrated a spectacle case before it plunged into the heart.

Inventor Fails to Produce Compound but Succeeds by Court Order to Have Mortgage on Brain Rescinded

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—The 25-year mortgage that Walter Esau held on the brain of John G. Schmidt, 70, inventor, had been rescinded today.

Judge Charles L. Aarons ruled an agreement made by Esau to pay Schmidt $200 a month to produce a chemical compound under certain conditions amounted to "a mortgage on the inventor's brain."

Schmidt had agreed to turn out an acid-resisting preventative for steel that would be better than any similar product on the market. The chemist manufactured the resistant for 10 months but ceased in June, 1931, when Esau claimed the compound did not fit specifications of the contract.

The court held, however, that the enforcement imposed servitude which "might well lead to tragic consequences if specifically enforced" since it provided Schmidt must work for Esau or remain idle.

N. D. NON-PARTISAN REPUBLICANS DEFER SELECTION OF PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—North Dakota non-partisan leaders have decided not to enter the presidential campaign at this early date.

The state central republican committee, which is composed entirely of non-partisan league members, decided last night not to endorse any candidate for the presidency. There had been some discussion of their coming out for either Senator Hiram Johnson, Calif., or Senator William Borah, Idaho.

A resolution calling for "adequate moratorium laws for agriculture as well as for foreign nations, with an adequate debt adjustment plan" was adopted by the convention which lacked oratorical demonstrations frequent in past North Dakota progressive conventions.

Other resolutions asked reduction of taxes through reduction of expenditures, a revision of banking laws so that funds will be "available to all" and a demand that the government make an effort to help farmers regain their position in the economic world.

In commending Senators Nye and Frazier, both of North Dakota, and Representative Burquist, the delegates asked them to aid in amending the federal marketing act to embody the principle of debenture or equalization fee.

STATE INCOME TAX AMENDMENT FIRST PLACE ON BALLOT

ATTORNEY GENERAL HOLDS AMENDMENT SUPERCEDED EARLIER PROPOSALS

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—Attorney General Henry N. Benson today ruled that the state income tax amendment was entitled to first place on the ballot upon which voters will signify their stand on proposed amendments.

Confusion occurred in the secretary of state's office when it was discovered that the last legislature provided that two amendments be listed first on the ballot. Besides the income tax proposal an amendment providing that motor vehicles owned by concerns paying a gross earnings tax may be taxed like other vehicles, was given the first place on the ballot.

The income tax amendment bill was passed near the end of the session and Benson ruled that it superceded the earlier amendment.

A third amendment that will be voted on at the November elections provides for the exchange of public lands and parks for federal lands and a fourth amendment provides for the payment by the rural credits bureau of a tax of 5 cents an acre on all lands it holds.

PROPOSAL TO CUT FEDERAL SALARIES DROPPED BY WOOD

Washington, Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—Representative Will R. Wood, republican, Indiana, today dropped for the present his attempt to cut government salaries.

He informed Chairman Pou of the house rules committee that he would not attempt to tack a rider on the pending agricultural appropriation bill providing for general salary slashes in the government service, which would include congressmen.

Wood's measure would effect reductions almost from bottom to top, excluding the president and federal judges. He estimated it would save about $50,000,000 a year. He predicted President Hoover would voluntarily reduce his own salary if cuts are voted for federal employes.

THREATEN LIVES OF JURISTS WHO HOLD FATE OF 8 NEGROES

CHIEF JUSTICE OF ALABAMA SUPREME COURT BARES THREATS AGAINST MEMBERS

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—Chief Justice John Anderson of the Alabama supreme court anounced from the bench today that lives of members of the court had been threatened in connection with the Scottsboro case, involving eight negroes condemned to die for criminal assault.

Arguments for and against a new trial for the condemned men were opened in the supreme court at plenary session today but before counsel launched into the opposing cases the chief justice made his announcement, believed without precedent.

"This court has been bombarded by telegrams and letters of revolutionary character from all parts of the world, intended to influence the court," the chief justice said.

"Also we have received messages threatening the lives of court members.

"I consider these highly improper, and if the parties who sent them were within reach, I would cite them in contempt of court.

"This is the first time in the history of my judicial career that opinions of the court have been threatened.

"This court will concern itself solely with the law, nothing else, regardless of outside pressure."

STATE REVIEWS CASE OF MRS. RUTH JUDD AS JURY IS SWORN IN

COUNTY ATTORNEY REITERATES AIM FOR VERDICT OF FIRST DEGREE MURDER

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—A jury to decide whether Winnie Ruth Judd must hang for the alleged slaying of her former friend, Agnes Anne Leroi, was selected today and was sworn in immediately.

The youngest juror was 23, the oldest 70, their average age being about 40, and they represented almost as many occupations as there were members.

They were as follows:

N. T. White, clerk, married; Ed Landrigan, dairyman, unmarried; Ed Gray, farmer, married with four children; B. H. Patterson, locomotive ma-

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—An outburst of temper by Winnie Ruth Judd featured today's session of her trial on the charge that she murdered her former friend, Agnes Anne Leroi.

She turned in her chair at the counsel table and bitterly assailed a prosecution alienist who spoke to her as he passed to the spectators' row.

chinist, married with one son; A. J. McFee, watchmaker; T. J. Lassen, unmarried; Stewart V. Thompson, salesman, single; William Lester, farmer, married with two children; Oscar A. Jones, farmer, married with one child; P. T. Kunze, rancher, married with twin girls; D. H. Kleinman, retired, 70; H. H. Hilker, retired, married, a daughter.

Lloyd Andrews, county attorney, in his opening statement, said the state would prove Mrs. Judd was the last person seen to enter the apartment of Mrs. Leroi and Miss Hedvig Samuelson. Miss Samuelson was shot at the same time Mrs. Leroi was and Mrs. Judd may be tried in this slaying later.

"And," Andrews concluded, "if we prove these things we will expect a verdict of murder in the first degree against Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd."

MICHIGAN PREPARES FIGHT AGAINST FUR BOOTLEGGING RING

SEEK TO STAMP OUT GIGANTIC ALLEGED BAND OF 21 MEMBERS AND HIJACKERS

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—Michigan state police, conservation wardens and federal secret service men combined today in a strenuous effort to stamp out a $1,000,000 fur bootlegging ring which has been active in the upper peninsula for a number of years.

Warrants have been issued for 21 alleged members of the bootlegging and hijacking clique which has been smuggling furs from the north woods to New York, according to Edward Billitzki and William Richards of the state attorney's office here.

C. E. Underwood, chairman of the Lucy county board, Newberry and George Stickney, coast guardsmen, of Deer Park, were among those named in warrants.

HOOVER EXPECTED TO GET RECONSTRUCTION MEASURE ON FRIDAY

SENATE AND HOUSE CONFEREES ON THE BILL SIGN REPORT THIS MORNING

Washington, Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—The reconstruction finance corporation bill "ought to be on President Hoover's desk by tomorrow night," Chairman Steagall of the house banking committee said at the White House today.

Senate and house conferees on the measure signed their report shortly after 11 a. m.

Steagall explained that under the rules the conference report must lay over a day in the house. Final approval by both house and senate is expected tomorrow.

Chairman Walcott of the senate conferees said house conferees had agreed to ask for suspension of the rules so the house could take it up today.

"If they get it," he said, "we should be able to act in the senate late this afternoon to enable the president to sign the bill tonight.

Walcott said the president was "delighted" with the final form of the bill.

Senator Walcott, Rep., Conn., presented the conference report to the senate at 1:20 p. m. but said no effort would be made to consider it until the house had acted.

House action rested with Chairman Steagall of the banking committee, who said he was disposed to let the bill lie over tomorrow.

The conference report could have been taken up by unanimous consent, but Steagall did not ask for this when he had an opportunity after the house had given final approval to the bill adding $125,000,000 to the capital of federal land banks.

WIFE PLEADS WITH KIDNAPERS NOT TO KILL HER HUSBAND

POLICE COMB DENVER FOR CLUE IN ABDUCTION BUT FEAR REVENGE SLAYING

Denver, Colo., Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—As hundreds of police joined in a search for Benjamin P. Bower, 62, kidnaped baking company official, his wife today issued a frantic plea for the abductors not to kill her husband.

Near collapse from worry, Mrs. Bower issued the following message: "Don't, please don't kill my husband."

At headquarters police officials inclined to the belief Bower had been slain, and that the kidnaping and possible death of the victim was motivated by revenge. Officials refused to enlarge upon the theory.

A promised telephone call from the kidnapers at noon yesterday was not made. Before leaving the Bower home Tuesday night with the baking company official, one of the men told Mrs. Bower after ripping the telephone from the wall:

"Get that fixed by noon tomorrow. We'll call you then."

Shortly after noon the telephone rang. It was answered, but no voice responded.

Bower was kidnaped from his home by two well dressed gunmen who told his wife that unless $50,000 ransom was paid "it will be too bad for your husband."

Bowers' bakery firm offered $1,000 for any information resulting in Bowers' return, or to the kidnapers direct—no questions asked. Mayor George D. Begole offered $500, the Rotary club $500 and the Elks club $100.

$125,000,000 LAND BANK BILL APPROVED AFTER COMPROMISE

Measure is Designed to Benefit Farmers by Permitting Extension of Mortgages and Stopping Foreclosures

Washington, Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—Congressional action on the $125,000,000 federal land bank bill was completed today. The measure is now ready for President Hoover's signature.

The bill was the first of the administration's financial relief measures to be finally approved by congress. Conference reports on the bill were adopted by house and senate without record votes.

To Aid Farmers

The measure is designed to benefit farmers by permitting extension of mortgages and stopping the numerous foreclosures of farms in recent months.

As approved by the conferees, the bill sets aside $25,000,000 to provide a moratorium on farm mortgages by extending liquidation of lapsed payments over five years.

Such extension is subject to approval by the farm loan association through which the original loan was made, a restriction imposed by the senate.

Senate Adds Amendment

The $25,000,000 for the specific purpose of extending farm mortgage payments was added by the senate, the original house bill carrying a total of $100,000,000. The house bill embodied the moratorium feature requiring that extension be subject to approval by directors of the farm land banks.

As the bill now stands, the power of extension applies to all unpaid obligations under terms of a mortgage instead of merely unpaid installments, as the house originally provided.

"The congress has gone by this bill as far as it can under the law to stop the farm land banks from their senseless foreclosures," Chairman Steagall of the banking and currency committee, said in presenting the conference report.

HONOLULU AROUSED BY REPORT ANOTHER ATTACK BY CONVICT

TERRORISM RENEWED FOLLOWING FINDING OF COUPLE IN HYSTERICAL CONDITION

Honolulu, T. H., Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—Reports of renewed terrorism and an attack on a young woman aroused Honolulu anew today.

First reports of the attack were that a young couple had been waylaid and robbed, and the girl attacked by a convict who recently escaped from Oahu prison where he was serving a term for murder.

The attacker was believed to be Daniel Lyman, 22, who escaped New Year's eve from the prison while serving a term on conviction of second degree murder. He had been reported seen about the city many times.

Taka Okazaki, 29, Japanese woman, and her companion, Takeo Horimoto, 24, victims of the attack, were hysterical when found near John Rogers airport, seven miles from the business district.

The man said they were sitting in his automobile when they heard a noise like a tire blowout. Horimoto looked out and was slugged on the head with a revolver. The holdup man dragged him out of the car, struck him again and robbed him, but the Japanese retained consciousness.

Next, Horimoto said, he was forced back into the machine and ordered to drive a short distance to a plantation railroad track. There he was tied to the rails.

Miss Okazaki said the assailant then approached her.

SENATE COMMITTEE APPROVES FEDERAL RELIEF FOR JOBLESS

BILL WOULD PROVIDE $375,000,000 FOR DESTITUTE UNEMPLOYED

Washington, Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—Acting in direct defiance of administration ploicy, the senate manufactures committee today voted to report favorably a bill providing $375,000,000 of federal funds for the destitute unemployed.

The bill was reported to the senate this afternoon by Chairman La Follette of the committee. He asked that it go on the calendar for subsequent action.

The bill upon which the committee acted was the measure sponsored by Senators La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, and Costigan, democrat, Colorado. It would make $125,000,000 available before July 1 and the remainder during the next fiscal year. The money would be allocated to the states to provide for the unemployed.

The committee vote was 6 to 2. It was understood that Senators McNary, republican, Oregon, and Goldsborough, republican, Maryland, voted against it.

AVOWED CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT IS ADJUDGED INSANE

Fergus Falls, Minn., Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—Alonzo S. Hilton, Cloquet millworker who wanted to run for president of the United States, today was in the state hospital for the insane.

He was committed to the institution by Judge M. C. Christianson at Carlton yesterday after an examination by two physicians at the request of Hilton's family.

Several weeks ago Hilton announced his candidacy on the democratic ticket in letters to the secretaries of state in Ohio and New Hampshire. He said his platform would include granting equal representation in the cabinet to women and the restoration of larger size currency. Hilton claimed that not enough of the smaller currency was printed, causing a money famine.

Officers Free Prisoner and Aid Him in Rushing Daughter to Hospital for Blood Transfusion

Philadelphia, Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—Two automobiles, one in pursuit of the other, sped between Philadelphia and Trenton, N. J., today with the life of a prisoner's small daughter at stake.

Fiv minutes after Charles Ogitis, Pottsville, Pa., saloon keeper, was driven away from the federal building to start a 10 months' jail term in the Mercer county jail at Trenton, word was received that his wife and daughter had been severely burned in their Pottsville home last night.

Physicians said the child's life could be spared only by a blood transfusion, preferably from her father, according to the telegram from Mrs. Ogitis. Thereupon federal officers sped after the car bearing Ogitis.

The telegram from Mrs. Ogitis, in which she asked the temporary release of her husband, was received by Federal Probation Officer William A Marks.

Marks called upon Federal Judge William H. Kirkpatrick, who sentenced Ogitis for the liquor law violation Jan. 8.

The judge ordered Marks to get Ogitis and return him to his Pottsville home as soon as possible. But by the time Marks secured the proper papers for his temporary release Ogitis was well on his way to the Mercer county jail.

FULLERTON TALKS ABOUT TAXATION

D. H. Fullerton, president of the Lions' club, last night addressed the club on taxation and psychology of a business depression or transition as he would rather have it called.

Based on his observation, Fullerton described the trying period of today as one of transitation—readjustment. He encouraged the use of this term in preference to depression emphasizing not only what he believes to be transpiriting but also challenges the public to look upon the lull as such for the psychological effect.

Fullerton's talk was constructive in that he delved into the proposition of tax reduction. He condemned the idea of eliminating a county agent or county nurse from the county activities declaring that he believed this action unjustified in the face of the fine and efficient work that can be done through

The Happiness Trio favored the club with several beautiful numbers and even encouraged the club to sing the chorus to "Sweet Adeline."

Supplies "Bulk" and Vitamin B for Constipation; Also Iron for Blood

For ten years, now, millions have found Kellogg's ALL-BRAN a safe, pleasant way to overcome common constipation—with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy that so often result from this condition.

Recent laboratory tests show that ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. In addition, ALL-BRAN contains twice as much blood-building iron, by weight, as beef liver.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like the "bulk" in lettuce. Inside the body, it absorbs moisture and forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming.

Think how much better it is to enjoy this delicious cereal than to take endless pills and drugs, which often lead to harmful habits.

Two tablespoonfuls daily—in serious cases with every meal—are usually sufficient. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

EXPLOITATION APPROPRIATION IMPERATIVE---

Petitions from resort owners throughout Crow Wing county in support of The Daily Dispatch's stand that the board of commissioners cannot afford to refuse the appropriation of $350 as its share of the fund to be used by the 10,000 Lakes-Greater Minnesota association for exploitation purposes emphasizes the eager and just demand for development of this community as a tourist community.

Support of one commissioner has already been pledged and, undoubtedly, when the commissioners meet again early in February they will weigh the appropriation request from all angles. Crow Wing county cannot afford to lose its identity with the 10,000 Lakes-Greater Minnesota association. It faces this prospect by the refusal of the board to authorize a $350 appropriation for advertising.

Untold benefits that cannot be measured will result from exploitation of this section through the organization. Direct results, of course, must come in the way of increased tourist business but, psychologically, it is the exploitation of the Minnesota lake region and its tourist advantages and agricultural possibilities that offer the widest field for this endeavor. And, for this purpose the appropriation of $350 from Crow Wing county would be expended.

The fact that resort owners are petitioning the board to authorize the appropriation bespeaks well for this section. It indicates that resort owners are taking their businesss more seriously; it shows that they believe in going out after new business.

And, that, after all, is commendable in view of the united appeal indicating a whole-hearted effort on their part to not only expand their own business but to bring more and more tourists to this section.

REFUSE TO SEND YOUR WORK OUTSIDE---

What benefits, and it is obvious that there are none, can be derived from citizens of Brainerd who send their laundry and cleaning and pressing work out of town via trucks operating into this city? In the same breath, we would like to go a step farther and condemn the practice of entrusting anything to the care of outside businesses who come into this city, particularly when perhaps every line represented has an efficient and courteous place at home where he can have these things done.

Outside enterprises, who have cultivated a fertile territory in Brainerd, pay no taxes. There can be no particular point upon which they can argue their right to business from Brainerd. And yet, every day trucks can be seen plying from this city to other places laden with goods and merchandise that can be taken care of at home.

This is not a plea for your business. It is simply to arouse in persons who have been in the habit of patronizing outside business to awaken to the sense of duty that demands them to do as much business as possible in the town which they support and upon which they owe, in a measure, their livelihood and perhaps their very existence.

GADGETS---

The American motorist may look forward to even greater ease and safety in driving than the latest 1932 automobiles offer him. Not that we have already achieved, in the latest products, almost unbelievable results in the operation of our cars. But engineers today are dissatisfied with the many little buttons and gadgets that still clutter up the dashboard and that confuse the mind of the driver.

So within the next year or so, we may expect these gadgets to fade off the scene. Today we no longer need worry about retarding the spark when starting or climbing a hill. The automatic spark takes care of these contingencies. Tomorrow, the rest of these "controls" will go the way of the spark, and we shall have only two controls to worry about in our driving—the steering wheel and the accelerator.

That is no vain dream of an imaginary. It is the prediction of several hard-boiled automotive engineers who deal with facts only. Research is leading the way to this accomplishment, and the way seems not very far distant or difficult. The automatic choke is here. The automatic clutch is almost at hand. Even the automatic brake, operated through the accelerator pedal, has been offered in a more or less crude form.

Power steering also will come, says the engineers. And so will electric button control of windows and doors. Everything to make motoring simpler and easier.

For emergency purposes, the parking brake is almost a useless adjunct, like the appendix in the human body. Only because it was originally considered and needed as an emergency brake, is it retained by legislative enactment in this day of four-wheel brakes.

The car of the future will have none of these buttons and levers, and its driver will enjoy a simpler and safer form of motoring.

FRIGHT IN INDIA---

The real seriousness of the situation in India became a good deal clearer when it was announced that the British government has sentenced a nine-year-old boy to four years in prison because he stood outside a Bombay store and urged shoppers to buy only Indian goods.

A government that makes such savage war on children is, quite obviously, inspired by fear, which is nearly always back of cruelty and repression. If England's proconsuls in India are sending nine-year-olds to prison, the proconsuls must be more badly scared than they have ever publicly admitted.

And, by the same token, if children are courting such sentences—this particular youngster proudly told the court he was "willing to die for Gandhi"—the movement for independence in India must go clear down to the grass roots. The inference is that the desire for freedom is not confined to a small circle of agitators, as some people would like to have us believe.

THREE KINDS of LOVE

BY KAY CLEAVER STRAHAN

AIEA FICTION SERVICE

© 1931, by Doubleday, Doran and Co.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ANN, CECILY and MARY-FRANCES FENWICK live with their grandparents. The sisters have been orphaned since childhood. The grandparents—known as "Rosalie" and "Grand"—have long since lost their wealth and the household is supported by Ann's and Cecily's earnings. For this reason Ann, 28, and PHILIP ECROYD, young lawyer, are still postponing their marriage though they have been engaged 8 years.

Cecily, 22, is in love with BARRY McKEEL, an engineer, but when he proposes she refuses to name the wedding date because she cannot leave Ann with the financial responsibility of the home.

Mary-Frances, 15, and still in school, strikes up an acquaintance with EARL DE ARMOUNT, vaudeville actor. She meets him secretly and he tries to persuade her to become his stage partner.

Phil takes Ann to dinner. A girl she has never seen before sends him a note. Phil's explanations are vague. On the way home Phil stops the car to investigate engine trouble. LETTY KIN, who wrote the note, and KENNETH SMITH, her escort, come along in another car. Letty addresses Phil with endearments and Ann, angry, gets in Smith's car and asks him to take her home. Next day he sends flowers.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXI

CECILY had looked up the number in the telephone book on Friday, the day before yesterday. She knew it by heart. She dialed it with icy, trembling fingers. The muted ringing sounded again and again in her ears. She prayed, "Let him answer it. Dear Lord, let him answer it. Let him answer it. Let him—"

"Hello?" A woman's voice, agreeable, cheerful.

"May I please speak to Mr. McKeel?"

"Mr. McKeel is playing golf." A note of interest was added. "I am Mrs. McKeel; may I take a message for him?"

"I mean—Mr. Barry McKeel."

"Barry?" The interest changed to amusement, faint but audible. "He isn't in town now."

"Oh. I didn't know. Where is he?"

"He is in Albany." Cheery again, almost hearty. "He has been there—let me see—since Friday."

"I—I didn't know. Do you expect him back soon?"

"No. Not very soon," sympathy was added. "He is superintending the work on a building that his uncle is putting up there."

"Could you give me his address?"

"I am sorry," sincerity seemed to be indicated, "but when he telephoned yesterday he said that he was leaving the hotel and would find a boarding place today. So just for the moment, I don't know where he is. We'll know in a day or so; if you'll call again I'll be glad to tell you."

A day or so! There could be no answer to that.

Curiosity came at last, with a touch of crispness. "Is it seriously important? My husband had spoken of driving to Albany this evening. I've had given it up. But, perhaps—"

"No," said Cecily, and tried again and said, "No—thank you," and hung up the receiver and went upstairs to her room and darkened it to shut out anything the June month might have to offer, and rolled down into the deep hollow of her bed.

• • •

ANN found her there when she came in at seven o'clock that evening, purposely early, from boating with Kenneth.

"Cissy, honey," she protested, and stooped to put her arms around her. "You didn't hear from him? But dear, dear, you can't—you mustn't do this way."

"Sister's sweetheart! He'll come back. But you can't do this way. You're ill already. You're wearing yourself out. You could make it easier, dear, if you'd just go on with life the best you can. We have to live, you know."

"Why do we?"

"Lots of reasons. Mother and Father gave us life—trusted us with it—a part of their lives. And there is Mary-Frances, and—"

"We didn't ask for the gift. I don't want it. Life is too horrible. It cheats us. Fools us. Takes us and hurts us—so. I'm afraid of life. If Barry came back, if he were sitting where you are, right now—I'd still be afraid of life. Always I'll be afraid after this."

"I shouldn't have left you, honey. I shouldn't have. I didn't want to go, and I didn't enjoy myself, and—"

"I made you go. I'm better alone. Please go now, won't you, Ann? Please go. You—you make me nervous."

"No, I don't. I shouldn't have believed you this afternoon, and I don't believe you now." She lay down on the bed, and Cecily stiffened under her curving arm.

"I hate everything!" she declared.

"You don't hate me," Ann said. "You couldn't, when I love you such a lot."

"Who said I did?" said Cecily, and began to cry softly.

"Just let me rest and talk to you a little while," Ann coaxed. "If I make you too nervous, you can push me off. But, Cissy, I've been thinking a lot. All about life being horrid and hurting and everything. It is—and it does, of course, sometimes. But not all the time. In a way, too, it is sort of up to us how much we'll allow it to hurt us."

• • •

"WELL, but it is. And here's something else. Life gives us lots of pleasant things—but it won't always allow us to pick and choose for ourselves. There's love. I don't know about men—but women have to have love. Only—I've decided that they don't have to have men's love. There are so many different sorts of love, and I believe—or try to believe," she amended truthfully, "that lots of the sorts are better, surer—happier, anyway, than the love between men and women. Take our love, Cissy, for each other and for Mary-Frances. We've always had it, so we don't always appreciate it. But, honey, stop and think if you can what it amounts to. It is certain. It is safe. Nothing can change it or hurt it., and it will last forever. Before I'd hurt you—as you're hurt now—I'd—I'd take myself to pieces and cook me. I wouldn't want to live if I'd hurt you, Cissy. And you wouldn't hurt me, as I'm hurt now, not even to have Barry again. But these men, these mean men hurt us, and break our hearts, and go away and stay away and let us be hurt and suffer. Why should we accuse life of hurting us when it is only men, mean men who hurt us? And why should we value that love men's love—old hateful, hurting, selfish love—so highly?"

"I don't know. I just want Barry. I want to love him—whether he loves me or not. I want to see him hear his voice. I can't live, I can't breathe without him. I can't, and I don't want to, and I won't try."

"You think that way now but you'll find out later that you can [illegible] way [illegible]—you get used to it. I thought that way too, last month. Then Sunday, Cissy—truly I was out of my mind, almost. I had a strange obsession that I was dead—like the stories one reads, you know—and didn't know that I was dead, and was just walking around watching myself. But that passes off. Truly it does, honey. Truly it does. See how much better I am now? And it has only been a month ago today. Just exactly a month ago today."

"Ann, I don't want to be hateful. But Barry and I were—are—I will say are. I will say Barry and I are—are—are—"

"Yes, darling. Of course. What are you?"

"We are different from you and Phil. In every way. Do you think, for instance, that I'll ever look at another man? Do you think that I could do as you've done? I don't blame you, but I mean I couldn't. I couldn't start right out to play with another man as you've started to play with that funny Kenneth thing. I couldn't. I wouldn't."

"That's just like saying, Cissy, honey, that if you were in one of these tropical places, being devoured by mosquitoes and bugs and things, you'd sit down and let them eat you alive because you couldn't and wouldn't use a shoddy, inferior grade of netting to keep them off."

• • •

CECILY cried a little more and said, "No, Ann—you don't understand. You don't understand."

"I try to, dear. Dear, I do try to. I wish you had come with us this afternoon, as I begged you to, instead of staying in this stuffy old house. The river was lovely, and we swam—"

"Listen, Ann. The more I think of it, the more I'm sure that we didn't really quarrel. Will you listen while I tell you about it again, and see if it seems like a quarrel to you? I mean—if it doesn't seem to you that, after Barry's had time to think it over, he'll decide that it wasn't actually what he'd call a quarrel. I told you, you know, that he said raised voices, and squawking sarcasms, and things like that. I'm sure I didn't raise my voice. I never do scream do I, Ann? Truly, do I?"

"Honey, honey, of course not."

"It began about the party. Or—did I tell you about that?"

"Not all about it," lied poor Ann.

"I didn't say a word, you know I didn't, when he went to Gretchen's party in April, though he knew I hadn't been invited. He'd promised to go before—well, before we'd found each other. I didn't let him know I cared a bit—was pleasant and nice about it as I could be. And he said he didn't have a good time at all, and was bored to death, and kept hoping that he could get away early enough to see me later. But I took notice that he didn't. And when the picnic came up in May I didn't say much, either. I said a little; and he explained that the crowd had been nice to him ever since he'd come back to Portland, and all—I guess I told you—about how he was going to put a girl something like Gretchen in his next book—a self-made sophisticate he called her—and, well, I didn't fuss even about the picnic. But when this third affair came up it simply got to be too much of a good thing. I couldn't understand why he wished to go places, constantly, without me. I wouldn't have gone near any place where he hadn't been invited. I didn't say that he should not go. I just tried to find out, if possible, why he cared to go. And he said— What did I say he said, exactly, Ann?"

"That he didn't care to go. But that the Steigerwalds had been very good to him, and that he'd rather sacrifice an evening than lie to them. And he reminded you that you'd rather get in early than lie to Grand and Rosalie in the morning. Wasn't that it? And that if you'd allow him to say that you and he were engaged, he'd be glad to say that he couldn't go, and why."

"All that stuff! Conventional—absurd. It wasn't Barry. Barry never takes the conventional attitude about anything. I can't understand it. And I can't understand how we could have—well, even disagreed about so trivial a thing as Gretch Steigerwald's darned old party. Ann, we couldn't have quarreled over a thing like Gretch Steigerwald's party!"

CUPID TAKES RAP; COUNTY MARRIAGES DROP; DIVORCES UP

FEWER WEDDINGS, MORE DIVORCES IN 1931; WOMEN WIN IN DIVORCE ACTIONS

The year 1931 was one of fewer marriages and more divorces for Crow Wing county than the previous year.

Records on hand in the office of W. A. M. Johnstone, clerk of district court, reveal the following: 1931, marriage licenses issued, 161; divorces granted, 30; 1930, marriage licenses issued, 180; divorces granted, 18.

A check showed that in marriage failures last year, 23 divorces were granted to women and seven were granted men.

The number of divorces granted in 1931 was the same as that for 1929.

Rubbing Oil Best forMuscularAches

You Don't Catch Cold!

No catching cold after using Emerald Oil to take the soreness out of stiff, inflamed muscles and joints.

The penetrating, soothing warmth of this wonderful rubbing oil seems to soak right down through the tissues. It leaves no thick coat of grease on your skin, does not "open your pores" and does not make your skin sensitive. You need never be afraid to use it freely at any hour of the day or night.

Emerald Oil is not a bit greasy and does not stain. And how speedily it banishes all stiffness and pain! Money back any time it fails, say Johnson's Pharmacy, Economy Drug Co. and H. P. Dunn, Druggist.—Adv.

BRAINERD 25 Years Ago

January 21, 1907

Thomas H. Beare of this city went to Minneapolis today on business.

Work on the gymnasium at the Y. M. C. A. is progressing and a week will make a big change in the appearance of the building.

Rev. Wm. McKenzie of Minneapolis has been assigned to the Brainerd circuit of the Methodist Episcopal church and will make this city their future residence.

Nothwithstanding three other dances, the theatre, two shows and other attractions, the Court of Honor drew a large attendance at their dance in Odd Fellows' hall last Friday evening, the evening being thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

Because of the heavy snows and intense cold, railroad traffic is badly tied up on the lines running into Brainerd.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor Daily Dispatch:
Dear Sir:

I saw in the Brainerd Dispatch that a lunch room was broken into and some goods stolen. Too bad that we taxpayers can't get better police protection.

Why here before Christmas I had a friend that visited me and he drove up with his car from Minneapolis, and he came to Brainerd about midnight. That was the first time he came to Brainerd and he did not know where I lived so he told me he was looking around for an hour or so looking for a policeman and couldn't find one. He asked me if Brainerd didn't have policemen.

I told him we have five police watching two banks. Where was our policemen? Brainerd should have a system like they have in St. Cloud or Red Wing, or at the Northwest paper mill. There they have to punch clocks every hour. A policeman or watchman has to punch that clock. Such a clock is on the south end, east end and north and west side of the city there. A policeman must be on duty and punch that clock and in the morning the chief can tell whether his men were on duty or not. Why here the last 5 or 6 years Southeast or Northeast Brainerd hardly ever saw a policeman. I seen cars speed 50 or 60 miles per hour. Most of them wouldn't stop by no stop sign.

Children here in summer time can run around till 1:00 or 2:00 o'clock in the morning, destroying people's property, stealing and annoying. Those children should be home by 9 o'clock in the evening. But, we have no police protection, so everything runs.

We taxpayers pay for police protection. Do we get it?

Why they could rob every night here in Brainerd. Our policemen wouldn't catch one. Why they broke in the lunch room here not so long ago right across from the police station. They have robbed almost every business place here in Brainerd except the banks. Our policemen never caught one so there must be something wrong some place.

Our police force cost the taxpayer $700 a month. We taxpayers don't pay for policemen to have one standing on the corner of the Iron Exchange, one by the Elks' building. If we do call one once in a while to S. E. or N. E. Brainerd, it is 2 or 3 policemen in a yellow cab and costs the taxpayer $1.00. Years ago I remember when we didn't have no cars and you could see a policeman walking all over our city and those days a policeman only had $65 to $75 a month.

But it seems to us the more pay they get the less they do. I am speaking the clear facts and I know the taxpayers here in Brainerd in general will back me up. All we want is police protection, and if we can't get that the state will give us protection.

Thanks to the Brainerd Daily Dispatch.

I think the Daily Dispatch is not only a paper for some of the people, but it is a paper for all of the people. It is a good clean progressive paper.

Respectively yours,
JOHN ELLERT

BRAINERD HIGH READY TO BATTLE STAPLES AND FARGO

RESERVES TO CARRY BRUNT OF ATTACK IN FRIDAY NIGHT CLASH

SECOND INVASION OF A NORTH DAKOTA TEAM SET HERE SATURDAY

Brainerd high's reserve power will give Staples plenty to worry about tomorrow night and will bear the brunt of the battle on the Staples floor despite the determination of the Hahn boys to "beat Brainerd at any cost."

The value of reserve strength is brought forcibly to the front this week as the Warriors meet the second of three strong competitors. Tuesday night the shock troops paved the way for a 27-22 win at Little Falls, saving the first stringers until they were needed.

Friday night's game will be a replica of the battle at the Falls but a livelier battle is anticipated.

Brainerd must naturally conserve some of its strength for the invasion of Fargo Saturday night.

For a particular style of bang up basketball, such as the Staples game may develop into, the reserves of Brainerd are especially adapted to meet the situation, more so than the first string.

If the reserves do not fare well, Brainerd's first team will enter the battle. Since the Falls victory the team is determined to carry through the week to a complete victory. The remaining games will tax the strength of the team and will give the players a midseason taste of the grind in store for them in district tournament play.

Ineligibility will keep out of the game a player whose entry in the ranks has been awaited by teammates and players alike. That player is the versatile Heikkinen.

Fargo's apperaance here Saturday night will mark the second visit of a North Dakota team to Brainerd this season. Brainerd formerly defeated the Valley City quint as did also the Crosby-Ironton Rangers.

Coach Hahn has had plenty of time to build a strong defense for the Brainerd attack Friday night. He has scouted the past two games in Brainerd.

MERCHANTS TRIUMPH OVER HOLDINGFORD IN BIG SCORE GAME

Improving as the game advanced, the Brainerd Merchants won a high scoring battle here last night over Holdingford, 43-35, definitely establishing independent basketball a place in sports following of locla fans. The score at the half was 15-13 for Brainerd.

Both teams were forced to a fast clip. A close check of personal fouls held the players to a clean, fast game and prevented roughness.

Brainerd's zone defense, inbred from high school coaching, worked to advantage over Holdingford's man to man defense.

Eleven players for Brainerd saw action but it remained for Schuety to hold high scoring honors of the night, sinking six field goals and one free throw.

Two of the Holdingford players, Siebenand, former all state college forward, and Winkler, guard, went out of the game on four personal fouls. Siebenand had time, however, to sink four field goals and two free throws.

In the preliminary game hte Brainerd DeMolay team held the Grand Rapids team without a filed goal. It was the first time a team on a Brainerd floor had failed to score from play. Grand Rapids got its two points on free throws. The Brainerd team won by 19-2.

Approximately 400 fans witnessed the contests.

PROSPECTS A. L. CLUBS AT A GLANCE

Chicago, Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—The prospects of the eight American league clubs three months before the start of the season seem to be:

Philadelphia: After fourth pennant in succession, something no American league club has ever accomplished. Improved pitching, better reserves and stronger at shortstop. Grove, Walberg, Earnshaw, Simmons and Cochrane backbone of team.

New York: Equipped to battle Athletics all the way for the pennant. Prospects for the most improved team in league. If Saltsgaver and Crosetti, rookie infielders, make good as Lazzari and Koenig did a few years ago, Yankees will be hard to stop. Ruth and Gehrig still supply most of team's power.

Washington: Offensive strengthened by addition of Carl Reynolds, outfielder from White Sox, but Walter Johnson is gambling on pitching staff. Team needs another right-hand pitcher.

Cleveland: Must stop infield leaks before team can be reckoned as a pennant contender. Also need a good left-handed pitcher in worst way.

St. Louis: Less attempt to improve than any other team. Counting on development of young infielders, Burns, Levey and Storti, to strengthen team. Might be surprise team but no chance to be pennant contender.

Boston: Very little chance for higher rating than sixth place where Red Sox finished last year. Shano Collins has worked wonders with team but still a decidedly second division outfit.

Detroit: Excellent chance to climb higher than last year when team finished seventh. Have several rookies which may make Tigers into first division team.

Chicago: Trend toward rebuilding last-place team under new owner and new manager. Improved pitching expected and may not have lost punch. At least three recruits expected to win regular jobs and give White Sox a revised lineup of hustling youngsters.

MENTION LITTLE FOR IOWA COACHING POST

Madison, Wis., Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—Appointment of Irwin C. Uteritz as director of intercollegiate athletics for one year at the University of Wisconsin has been approved by the board of regents. At the same meeting the board accepted resignations of George Little and Glenn Thistlethwaite as director of athletics and football coach, respectively.

A resolution asking that Little be retained as athletic director was introduced in the state assembly. The regents, however, offered Little the directorship of intramural athletics and gave him until Feb. 8 to decide.

The question of a successor to Thistlethwaite has head football coach was not considered by the regents and will not be taken up until their next meeting. Reports that Guy Sundt, an assistant coach at the university for several years, had been chosen to succeed Thistlethwaite were without confirmation today.

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—George Little, who resigned recently as director of athletics at the University of Wisconsin, was scheduled to arrive here today to confer with Iowa athletic officials regarding the position of head football coach. Little formerly coached at Michigan and Wisconsin, and is one of several under consideration as successor to Burton A. Ingwerson.

Martin Expects to Sign 1932 Contract

Springfield, Mo., Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—Pepper Martin, world series hero of the St. Louis Cardinals, expects to sign his 1932 contract when he receives it late this week or early next week, he said today.

"I'll decide about that contract when I get it, but I'll probably sign," the Pepper remarked. "I have a wife and kid to look after and I want to get as much as I can so when I grow old I'll have something to fall back on. But I expect to sign."

"You'll be fairly treated," interrupted "Gabby" Street, manager of the Cards. "Your days as a small salaried player are over, John, and now you're ready for bigger cash."

Martin merely nodded.

Tardiness of Winter Delays Ski Finals

Lake Placid, N. Y., Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—Tardiness of winter has forced the American ski committee to choose the United States cross-country and combination event ski team without competition. The 11 members were announced yesterday.

The United States Olympic speed skating and bobsled teams already have been named on the same basis after tryouts were cancelled because of lack of snow and ice.

Charles N. Proctor, chairman of the ski committee, announced its team as follows:

Rolf Monsen, Lake Placid; Nils Backstrom, Lebanon, N. H.; Ollie Zetterstrom, Schenectady, N. Y.; Erling Anderson, Berlin, N. H.; Morton R. Billings, Denver, Colo.; Edward J. Blood, New Hampshire state college; Lloyd C. Ellingson, St. Olaf's college; John M. Erickson, Wakefield, Mass.; James Harsh, Granby, Colo.; Richard Parsons, Salisbury, Conn., and Robert Reis, Berlin, N. H.

San Francisco, Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—Frank "Lefty" O'Doul, outfielder for the Brooklyn National league baseball club, has signed his contract for the 1932 season. O'Doul, one of the leading hitters of the major league, said today he had taken a small cut in salary but was well satisfied with the terms.

Lott Pushed by Harvard Netster But Triumphs

Montreal, Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—George Lott, Jr., of Chicago, faced the quarter-finals of the Canadian indoor tennis championships today somewhat shaken in his confidence of winning his fifth Canadian title.

Lott, defending champion and America's second ranking player, went through one of his hardest fights yesterday to eliminate Walter Thompson, Harvard university star. Thompson forced the over-confident champion to three sets, before Lott finally won, 10-8, 6-4, 6-2.

C. of C. PLANS PROMOTION COLONIZATION MOVEMENT

PLANS AMBITIOUS EXPLOITATION OF AREA'S RESOURCES

LAUNCH ACTIVITIES IMMEDIATELY FOLLOWING REORGANIZATION OF BOARD

Promotion of the tourist and agricultural possibilities of the trade territory tribuary to Brainerd, together with an analysis of industrial potentialities looking to expansion in this field, is indicated as the keynote of an ambitious program to be undertaken by the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce during the next year.

While nothing definite was accomplished last night at the election of officers, pending reorganization of the civic organization, there was a well defined and determined attitude to delve into the new year in a courageous and concerted move to develop the resources of Brainerd and the surrounding community.

Honor Retiring President

As was indicated in the impromptu suggestions, the Chamber of Commerce intends to cover all phases not only effecting the tourist and agricultural program but will also assume an active representation in other projects.

Walter P. Tyrholm, retiring president, was honored in a resolution of thanks for his efforts and work in directing the activities of the organization during the past year.

Serious consideration was given several projects advanced at last night's meeting. It was the sense of the meeting that the president appoint committees following the initial meeting of the board of directors to launch immediate work.

Push Colonization Plan

Foremost is a colonization movement designed to attract hundreds of native farmers back to land from the cities. Speakers including Ernest Roth, county agent, C. A. Ryan, W. H. Gemmell, J. H. Krekelberg, representative of the state credit bureau, Dr. C. H. Nelson, and others emphasized the possibilities, declaring that now is the logical time to start machinery moving toward bringing hundreds of farmers to settle the fertile lands in this agricultural community.

President Russell will appoint a committee soon to get in touch with the colonization departments of the various railroads, particularly the Northern Pacific.

Seek Fish Hatchery

The possibility of securing a federal fish hatchery for Brainerd was expressed by Toger Erickson. The appropriations have been made for this project, Frank Hall told the organization, but as yet the site has not been selected.

Congressman Harod Knutson will be contacted by a committee who will seek to influence the establishment of the fish hatchery in this community.

C. A. Ryan suggested a committee to determine the possibility of securing the natural gas lines now under construction from North Dakota to the Twin Cities to pass through Brainerd. This will also be referred to a committee. It was understood that the lines are being built parrallel Northern Pacific and Great Northern lines.

Support Ball Park

Should the state authorize a statewide police radio system the Chamber of Commerce should assume an active role in attempting to obtain headquarters for this city it was the concensus of opinion. The members instructed President Russell, by motion, to appoint a committee to interview Earle Brown, superintendent of the state highway patrol, on the question.

George Berkholder suggested the revival of the plan for passing out literature telling of the advantages of this community to tourists during the summer months. He was supported in his contention that it was a worthwhile project by D. C. Gray.

Moral support to the park board in the establishment of a baseball field at Lum park was pledged upon the motion of Roy Wyett supported by D. C. Gray who told of the Brainerd Community's fund's plan to offer work to the unemployed there in clearing the land. Dr. G. I. Badeaux raised the quesion of the practicability of the site but was assured of its adaptability for the purpose.

"Well, Biddy, what was it your husband died of?"

"Sure, ma'am I can't tell you. You see, I hadn't time to get the doctor to him and he died a natural death."—Passing Show.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why external remedies do not give quick and permanent relief?

Why cutting does not remove the cause?

Do you know the cause of Piles is internal?

That there is congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the veins flabby, the parts almost dead?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy for itching, bleeding or protruding piles discovered by Dr. Leonhardt and known as HEM-ROID that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause. It stimulates the circulation in the lower bowel—drives out the thick impure blood, heals and restores the affected parts.

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID has an almost unbelievable record of success right in this city. So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when H. P. Dunn and Johnson's Pharmacy invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their Piles no matter how stubborn the case?—Adv.

Tyrholm Outlines Recommendations, Lists Achievements

Walter P. Tyrholm, retiring president of the Chamber of Commerce, last night urged the organization to continue the loyal support to the new head as was accorded him by the members in making his final report in which he strongly recommended several projects for future consideration and issud a summary of achievements of the last year.

Directed to the officers and members, Tryholm's message said:

It has been customary in the past that the retiring president make a brief report of activities engaged in by the chamber during the year together with recommendations for future consideration. I therefore summarize firstly the following accomplishments which are the result of whole-hearted and loyal efforts on the part of committee members.

The marking of a Federal Highway through Brainerd was accomplished. Being a resort center it should be of particular benefit to Brainerd in that our city willhenceforth appear on all maps featuring the federal highways of the nation. It should result in increased traffic to and through our city.

A Good Will Golf Tournament at Pine Beach and Brainerd Country Club was successfully sponsored on September 13th. The event attracted a large number of enthusiasts from widely separated communities and is destined to become an annual event of the future. It can be made of immense advertising value to Brainerd, in my opinion.

Co-operation with the N. P. Boosters' Club in the launching of an advertising campaign was designed to promote a better understanding among merchants, the Northern Pacific Railroad, its employees, and the citizens of Brainerd at large. This spirit of co-operation is commendable and the resultant friendliness everywhere apparent in our community should be a continual incentive for its future and more intensive cultivation.

Undoubtedly the most outstanding accomplishment during the past year was through the efforts of the Tourist Committee. Since the creation of this department a few years ago, the immense amount of potential benefits awaiting our grasp has each year become more apparent. Newspaper and Radio advertising, setting forth the advantages of Crow Wing county as a resort community, were satisfactorily experimented with by the committee. Improvement of our resort map together with a more extensive and select distribution was brought about. The wonderfully efficient work of the tourist committee attracted to the office of the secretary, by person, wire and letter, far more inquiries and from more distant points than in any previous year. To this committee, special mention and a vote of thanks is due for its accomplishments with extremely limited funds. Their work in a large measure is responsible for the splendid tourist business enjoyed by our community the past season, an outstanding exception to the generally depressed conditions in resort sections.

In addition to the major activities mentioned numerous other activities occupied valuable time and effort on the part of officers and committee members. To these men for your loyal support, I thank you.

The past year is history. We are now concerned with the future, and in anticipation of the continued loyal support of the chamber to its incoming president permit me to offer a suggestion as future subjecta of discussion.

Expenditure of public funds has in the past few months been a topic of nation-wide discussion, and rightfully so. Every citizen and all civic bodies should be vitally interested in the operations of any governmental body which is charged with the duty of efficient and economical dispensation of public moneys. I therefore recommend that the Taxation Committee of the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce, which has been dormant for a few years, be revived. The City Council, which in my opinion has been conservative and efficient to the benefit of all tax-payers, I feel positive would welcome any suggestions the result of deliberations of a chamber committee. The County Commissioners would also undoubtedly be receptive in the same measure, to suggestions of a constructive nature.

Reduction of public expenditures to the end that the public will benefit by decreased taxation is a subject that requires careful thought and analysis. It should be studied in a business-like manner and should be devoid of radical and revolutionary departures which are indicative only of false economies. Co-operation, to the exclusion of destructive criticism should be its aim in effecting reduced taxes proportionate to reduced incomes.

Other recommendations for future consideration which appear of paramount importance are: th continuation of the work of the Tourist Committee as the major activity; the game and fish conservation movement; the enthusiastic support to the Brainerd Country Club with the thought in mind that Brainerd as the leading resort center of the state will eventually be known as the home of the finest golf course in the state.

In conclusion, I want to thank the chamber members, its officers and committee members for their splendid spirit of loyalty and co-operation. The honor of being your president for the past year has indeed been an educational pleasure. This continued support to our new president which I know is forthcoming will be of mutual benefit and pleasure.
